DUKE DRIVES MILK WAGON

Have you ever seen a Duke driving a milk wagon? Have you ever seen a British Duke in a dress suit If not, when you see Victor Moore in his Paramount picture comedy, "Snobs," you will form a new idea regarding such a man. "Snobs" will be seen at the Grand Theatre tomorrow. It reveals conditions in society when a humble milkman inherits a title with twenty millions of money and makes himself an integral part of it. The photo comedy exposes the snobbery of society in a highly delightful and instructive manner.

Mr. Moore is deliciously funny as he scatters his wealth with rare prodigality. He believes it to be part of the game to be a real sport, and his education has made it impossible for him to distinguish between the real thing and downright absurdity. When he discovers that he has made himself a laughing stock, despite his wealth and title, he is filled with haterd for society and returns to his milk wagon, and to the charming girl who had befriended him and showered upon him the wealth of her love.

Anita King is delighful as Ethel Hamilton, the girl, and as a leading woman she has proved her worth in numerous productions.

Also the usual Keystone comedy.

U. S. SAILOR, 66, TO WED PRETTY TURKISH GIRL, 20

New York, Feb. 18—Eighteen of the fifty-six members of the crew of the United States gunboat Scorpion, interned at Constantinople from April 11, 1917, until last November, married Turkish women and have been left behind there, according to Lieut. Comdr. Herbert S. Babitt, of Houghton, N. Y., former commander of the Scorpion, who arrived here today with forty other members of the gunboat's crew on the Italian steamer Dante Alighieri. A new crew was sent to relieve the interned men soon after the armistice was signed.

GERMAN WAR COST OVER FORTY BILLION DOLLARS.

Weimar, Feb. 18—The German people generally do not yet understand clearly the financial situation in which the war has left them, and they are too optimistic declared Dr. Schiffer the Minister of Finance, addressing the German National Assembly today. He apparently astonished the house when he gave the statistics to show that the war had cost 164,000,000,000 marks.

Dr. Schiffer then asked the assembly to vote a credit in the form of a loan for 25,300,000,000 marks, the greatest loan the German people ever have been asked to raise. He explained that last October the government stood on the verge of financial exhaustion.

It asked for a credit of 15,000,000,000 marks, but when this was refused raised it by means of bank note issues. The speaker was applauded when he remarked that truth and openness should be the basis of all politics and finance.

HUNS SIGN ARMISTICE

Marshal Foch Informs Supreme War Council That Teutons Agree For Renewal of Terms—Must Stop War On Poles.

Paris, Feb. 18.—Marshal Foch yesterday afternoon informed the Supreme Council of the acceptance by the Germans of the conditions for a renewal of the armistice.

Two notes were handed Marshal Foch by Mathias Erzberger when the renewal of the armistice was taken up at Treves. One note concerned the employment of the German mercantile marine for various purposes, while the other was longer and contained several requests, including the release of German prisoners and the maintenance of economic intercourse between Germany and occupied German Territories.

Treves, Feb. 18.—Under the new terms for the renewal of the armistice as presented to the Germans by Marshal Foch, Germany must abandon all offensive movements against the Poles and must also prohibit her troops from crossing the Russian frontier at a certain line.

The line of demarcation between Germany and Poland is outlined as follows: East of Groesser Neudorf (southeast of Bromberg), south of Labischin, south of Schodziesen, north of Exin (southwest of Bromberg), south of Sann, north of Czarnikau (east of Kreuz), west of Birnbaum and Bentschen (west of Posen). Wollstein, Lissa, and north of Wiernszow, and thence along the frontier between Silesia and Poland. (This line of demarcation gives to Poland a considerable part of German Posen).

It was provided by the Allied terms that the armistice must be renewed for an indeterminate period, with a fixed delay of three days for the denunciation of it. The old terms of the armistice are to be carried out completely by Germany.

The German delegates reached Treves Friday morning and Marshal Foch arrived at noon. The first discussion was at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, and was begun by Marshal Foch. Mathias Erzberger spoke first for the Germans.

INGOMAR—"THE WHITE LIE."

Just how great is the power of conscience? Conscience—that inhuman jailer from whom no guilty person can escape! Gordon Kingsley believed that mental suffering is greater than physical pain, and used that method of torturing from his wife a confession of her little white lie.

"The White Lie," a Paralta Play which will be shown at the Ingomar tonight, was written by William Parker and presents the talented emotional actress, Bessie Barriscale, in one of the biggest dramatic stories of the screen Edward Coxen in the role of the husband, Charles Gunn as the "other man," who, curiously enough, is not a villain, and little Mary Jane Irving make up the characters around whom the story centers.

The cablegram was signed by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and by John H. Donlin, president of the Building Trades branches of the labor organization.

DECLINES INVITATION

Senator Borah Stirs Capitol by Refusing to Discuss World Pact With President Wilson—Only Member Who Has Refused.

Senator Borah today declined President Wilson's invitation to dine at the White House and discuss the league of nations.

He based his action on two grounds; First that he and the President are fundamentally at odds regarding any league of nations plan, and, second, that he could not allow himself to be bound by a confidential discussion, no part of which he could use later in argument or public discussion.

Borah so far is the only member of either House or Senate Foreign Relations Committee to decline the President's invitation. Strong pressure was brought to bear on him to reconsider. His action created a great stir at the Capitol.

At the same time announcement was made that Senator Poindexter is prepared today to disregard the President's express wish that debate be deferred, by begining discussion of the league before the Senate.

Poindexter's speech, if made today is expected to be followed by speeches by Borah, Cummins and Reed, all hostile to the league. Such criticism as they will voice may call for a reply by Administration Senators. In this event, the Senate is likely to be plunged into the very sort of debate President Wilson sought by his invitation to the two committees to avoid. Administration leaders are considering measures for curbing the talk.

Borah in a letter to Presidential Secretary Tumulty, made plain his reasons for declining the invitation.

"Meetings at the White House, according to a long standing custom," wrote Borah, "are always regarded as strictly confidential on the part of the guests. This meeting, I take it, would be regarded as especially confidential otherwise the President would have spoken according to his custom to the open Senate.

"The differences between the President and myself on this question are fundamental. I am sure no suggestion of mine would modify in the slightest the views of the President, and nothing could induce me to support this league as outlined in the proposed constitution, or anything like it. I feel, therefore, that it would not be fair to the President to accept his confidence, or receive from him confidential information concerning this subject. Neither, in my view of the subject could I accept information which I would not feel perfectly free to transmit to my colleagues or use in public debate. After much reflection, I beg, therefore, to be excused from attending the meeting.

"In writing this note and taking this course, I mean no personal disrespect to or disregard of the President. I simply find myself in such disagreement with him and feel no intensely concerning the matter that I cannot do other than candidly advise him to the fact."

An address was delivered by Mr. Martin and Robert L. Payne, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our darling niece, Louise Alma Mason, who departed this life four months ago today, February 18, 1919.

Sleep on dear Louise and take your rest,
God called you home, he thought it best,
He saw your suffering here was great
And opened wide the golden gate.

In God's home of fadeless beauty
Louise is now a shining star;
Dwelling in that holy city
With the golden gates ajar.

Leaf by leaf the roses fall,
Soul by soul the Savior calls,
Not for one, but for all,
We must go when the roll is called.

By her Aunt Alma and Uncle Enoch.

LEAVE RUSSIA

American Troops to be Withdrawn—Expected Home by Spring—Additional Troops Being Sent to Facilitate Withdrawal.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Steps toward strengthening the position of American and Allied troops in Northern Russia as a preliminary to their safe withdrawal in the near future are under way at the direction of the Supreme War Council.

Secretary Baker, transmitting this information from President Wilson to the House Military Committee today, said all the American soldiers should be out of Russia this spring.

To facilitate the withdrawal, additional forces are being dispatched to the scene. Great Britain is sending 2,400 troops and the United States railroad engineer units numbering about 500 men.

Secretary Baker also said General Bliss had informed him that the British military authorities felt no apprehension as to the military situation at Archangel. Secretary Baker's letter, which was sent to the chairmen of both the House and Senate Military committees, said:

"I have just received a cablegram from General Bliss, sent by the President's direction, in which I am told that the President 'has approved the sending of two American railway companies to Murmansk for the following objects: First, to assure greater safety during this winter of the Allied forces, both along Murmansk and at Archangel and south of Archangel; second, the much better supply and, if necessary, the reinforcement from Murmansk of the advance detachments south of Murmansk and Archangel; third, to facilitate the prompt withdrawal of American and Allied troops in North Russia at the earliest possible moment that weather conditions in the spring will permit. The President has directed me to communicate the foregoing to the heads of the Allied governments, which I have done. The President desires that his action and the reasons for it be communicated to the military committees of the Senate and House for their information."

"In addition to the foregoing, General Bliss tells me that the British Government is sending a force of about 2,400 men to Murmansk, and that they have requested the cooperation of the President to the extent of two companies of railway troops above referred to. The desire for the railway troops is based upon the fact that supplies and reinforcements for Archangel during the winter have to go by railroad south from Murmansk to a point near the southern extreme of the White Sea, and that the operation of this railroad is believed by the British to be absolutely necessary to guarantee the prompt movement of reinforcements and supplies to Archangel and the troops south of Archangel. General Bliss also informs me that the British military authorities do not feel any apprehension as to the military situation at Archangel.

"In accordance with the direction of the President, I transmit this information to the Senate Committee on Military Affairs."

REDS' BANDS PLAY AS PRISONERS DIE

London, Feb. 18.—Executions with music by regimental bands are the order of the day in Livonia, according to dispatches from Petrograd.

These dispatches say the situation in Petrograd and Moscow three weeks ago was worse than ever. Executions were being continued, and often were carried out to the lively strains of a regimental band, the victims being lined up at the edge of a long open grave and shot by Lettish soldiers.

According to another dispatch from Helsingfors, Leon Trotzky, minister of war, has ordered the Bolshevist army in Esthonia and Livonia to attack all sectors of the Narva, Pskoff, and Volmar fronts.

THE DEATH'S HEAD HUSSAR

Frederick William Hohenzollern's repeated protestations that he is guiltless of the war recall some tributes to his pacific character paid by Dr. Goelling in "The Crime." "We have in Germany," wrote this German from his hiding place in Switzerland, "the comfort and the agreeable prospect of possessing a future Emperor who belongs to the worst category of 'heroes of war.' He is one of those who, exposed to no personal dangers, love war for war's sake, who still regard international peace as a dream, and not even a beautiful dream;' who look upon the laceration and the dismemberment of millions of human bodies, upon the misery, hunger and destitution of countless millions of unhappy men and women as a wholesome medicine, a 'steel bath,' to restore once more the relaxed nerves—not their own nerves, be it observed, but those of the laboring classes."

He speaks of "the tenderness of our Pan-Germans and Imperialists under the leadership of Bernhardi and other generals, and with the energetic encouragement of the German Crown Prince," "who did not withhold his applause from the heroic deeds of Lieutenant von Forstner against the lame cobbler in Zabern."

"The chief pillar of support of the Pan-German Union and of its efforts was, as we know, the German Crown Prince, who longed for war for his own glory and for the greater increase of the power of the Empire." There are several indications that the Kaiser precipitated the war because he was afraid of his son's popularity with the chauvinists. Dr. Goelling says, "The more this exalted gentleman assumed an attitude of open conflict toward his father's Government, the greater was the jubilation with which he was answered by the chorus of his Pan-German retinue."

"Only thus, relying on our good sword, can we gain the place in the sun which is our due, but which is not voluntarily accorded to us," is one of his beautiful expressions. "The laughing son, the leader of the war party at the Prussian court, had now at last gained the victory over his imperial father, who had long hesitated, conscious of his enormous responsibility."

DELILAHS OF THE RHINE

A new danger confronts our American overseas forces. The Rhine maidens not unsubstantial like the Lorelei, but buxom, flaxen-haired lasses, are tempting the American soldiers of occupation to surrender to feminine lures. Our correspondent at Coblenz camouflages the real peril when he speaks of it lightly as a mere tendency to flirt with the attractive girls around them. Samson thought he was safe when he tried to flirt with Delilah, but it got him into a peck of trouble

Our boys at Coblenz are not allowed to associate with the fraulein, under the rules which forbid fraternization with the enemy; but it is a tremendous straining of words to call this yielding to sex attraction "brotherly." The French do not forbid these flirtations at Mayence, but there is little danger that the French soldier will be captured by the amorous propaganda of the German women. These little affairs of the heart will have no influence on the Frenchman's head. His wife or his best girl is not far away, and he will return to her fancy free, and with little remorse probably for any damaged hearts he may leave behind him. A good many of our American soldiers are young and suspectible, and might easily fall victims to the wiles of the Rhine Delilahs.

A perilous situation for young fellows longing for feminine companionship and 3,000 miles away from home. Some of them are just bound to "flirt," if they stay there, and these flirtations may exercise an even more serious influence than "fraternization" with German men, because "the female of the species is more deadly than the male." The only suggestion we can offer is to let Frenchmen compose the army of occupation and let our American boys be sent to some pleasant, unravaged part of France, where they can flirt to their hearts' content with French girls. If some of them succumb to the fascination of the latter, another sentimental tie with France will be created, and we shall be saved from insidious alliances.—(Baltimore Sun.

BOLSHEVISM IN AMERICA

A few months ago a Southern paper scoffed at the warning of the danger of Bolshevism in America, declaring that the American people were not of the stuff of which Bolshevists and anarchists are made.

The Manufacturer's Record of Baltimore says that paper shows how little it understands the volcanic forces at work in this country and elsewhere.

"Congress was horrified a few days ago when it found that a rank Bolshevist meeting had been held within one block of the White House, in which not the Administration, but the Government itself, was denounced, and as at first reported a demand was made for its overthrow. In that meeting Bolshevism was upheld and advocated for this country. "It is now denied that the overthrow of our Government was advocated at this meeting, but since the Bolshevistic movement in Russia was vigorously upheld the meeting was in reality, if not in words, a demand for the overthrow of all civilized governments. It was therefore a definite attack in acts, if not in words, upon our Government. Every man who upholds Bolshevism in Russia is an enemy to the American Government and should be so treated.

"More than half a century ago the North and the West were suddenly flamed into a tremendous passion of a war spirit when the American flag was fired on at Fort Sumter. The South might have done many things without awakening the tremendous spirit of the nation had it not fired on the Stars and Stripes, but the shot which was fired at Fort Sumter was not more directly aimed at the National Government, nor was it so deadly in its meaning, as the meeting held in Washington on Sunday, February 2, demanding the overthrow of this Government. It was a shot which should have stirred the passions of every heart.

"Are we less patriotic today than the nation was in 1861? Or have we become so accustomed to the rantings of anarchists and Bolshevists that we feel that it is safe to permit them to go on unmolested, preaching their accursed doctrine of the overthrow of this Government and of all civilization?

The issue is equally before us. Bolshevism, which is but the outgrowth of anarchy and rank socialism, today is endangering the world, and instead of strangling it the world parleys with it.

"The spirit of evil voiced through the Bolshevistic agitation is spreading through the land. It is seen in the strikes which are being fomented largely by pro-German work.

The question comes squarely before this country as to whether the unnaturalized, illiterate Bolshevistic element, guided by the Socialists found in some of the higher callings and often in our universities, shall doom America to destruction or whether the people of this country shall control its future."

Oh, we are getting too good, so much so that the prophesier of the end of time is a welcome visitor in our midst. Another great leader has arisen and says "The Savior said when on Earth that the world would stand a thousand years, but not thousands." So, according to this the end is near. Whether this be true or not, we know we are getting almost perfect and all we need, now that the working man has been refused a glass of beer is for the pure in heart to get together and eliminate cigars, cigarettes, chewing tobacco and, in fact, every amusement, and when Gabriel toots his horn all we will have to do is to adjust our wings and soar heavenward. If there ever was an unnecessary evil—many times worse and a thousand times nastier than beer—it is the use of tobacco, as it unfits men, and even women, too, for society and even home. Look at our streets and pavements bespattered with tobacco juice and stumps especially on Sunday mornings when some, at least, go to church with their best on. Let's kill all filth-creating habits with one blow, and when we start let's embrace those also who are "up to snuff" What great divine or suffragette, who isn't guilty of either of these bad habits, will lead?

U. S. Will Pay Actual Cost of Transporting Troops

Washington, Feb. 18—An agreement just reached between the United States and British Governments on the amount to be paid for the transportation of American troops to France during the war in British ships is based on cost of transportation, with no margin for profit.

Brigadier-General Hines, chief of the embarkation service, went to Europe for the purpose of working out the details of this agreement with Lord Reading, British Ambassador to the United States, who arranged the project of employing British ships with Secretary Baker when the German drive last spring caused the American army to be rushed to France.

No figures were then discussed, but when the Ambassador and General Hines met in London the books of the British Government showing the cost of operation were produced and the conferees agreed as to the actual cost. Three classes of transportation are provided for, the first and second being for officer accommodations and the third for the hundreds of thousands of enlisted men taken overseas in British bottoms.

FACE ATROCITY TRIALS

Germans Who Committed Trials on High Seas

London, Feb. 18.—"Atrocity trials" of Germans known to have committed crimes against humanity on the high seas will soon begin, and, according to Rear Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, the German defendants will be executed if found guilty.

Rear Admiral Hall was in charge of the British admiralty's intelligence department during the war. He is now a member of Parliament from Liverpool, having been retired.

A method of procedure against the German offenders has already been drafted, according to Sir Reginald. The offenders will be divided into two classes: 1—Those in authority who ordered deeds of infamy. 2.—Those who carried them out.

"If any German we now have in custody proves he obeyed orders in committing any sea crime, then we will proceed against the higher German authorities," said Sir Reginald. "Our arm is long enough to reach the higher ups. In the case of the hospital ship Llandovery Castle, the man who sunk her will be brought to trial. He will be defended by counsel in open court and if convicted he shall die."

CONFISCATE TUG MURRELL

More Than 200 Pints of Whisky Found on Vessel at Norfolk

Prohibition authorities of Norfolk captured the tug Murrell and confiscated 200 pints of whisky found on board. The vessel is owned by the New England Coke and Coal Company, of Boston, and is being held. In all probability the tug will be confiscated unless some new light can be thrown on the case soon. Enormous quantities of illicit spirits are said to be seized daily at Norfolk from boats landing from wet territory.

TO FIGHT FOR LIGHT WINES

Seeker of Gubernatorial Nomination Will Head Forces in Big Drive.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18.—The fight for a wet administration of the dry Federal prohibition amendment is now merrily under way, with the prospect that the leader to be chosen for the light wine and beer drive in the upper House will be Senator Henry M. Sage, of Albany. Senator Sage is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a strong contender for the Republican nomination in 1920. He refused flatly to vote for the Federal prohibition amendment and openly denounced the Republican party caucus which put it through the Senate by a single vote.

LOSES LIFE IN JAIL FIRE

Intoxicated Prisoner Burned to Crisp at Shenandoah City.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 18.—The jail at Shenandoah City yesterday morning burned to the ground. A prisoner, O. J. Gilmartin, who had been locked up the night before for being intoxicated, was burned to death. The fire was discovered about 2:30 a. m., and the fire company quickly responded, but a high wind fanned the flames and it was some time before the fire could be sufficiently controlled to reach the compartment in which Gilmartin was incarcerated. When it was reached it was found that the young man had been burned almost to a crisp.

Gilmartin was 22 and had been employed by the Norfolk and Western Railroad as a machinist for several years, coming to Shenandoah City from Williamson, W. Va., where his mother resides.

$12,000 FOUND ON BRIDE

Elopers Caught After Robbing Safe of Girl's Father.

New York, Feb. 18.—The runaway wedding trip of "Happy" Johnson and his youthful bride, who up to February 4 was Miss Bessie Ender came to a dismal end in Poughkeepsie yesterday.

Together with Willard Sutton, 18, who was taken along as "adviser" the couple were arrested there on charges of grand larceny and burglary, brought by the young woman's father, Alfred Martin Endner, a wealthy manufacturer.

Although Endner complained to the police that his daughter had financed the wedding trip my opening the office safe during his absence and taking $8,000, her sister Anna told Mrs. William Johnson, "Happy's" grandmother, that $16,000 was missing.

And Bessie herself mentioned that amount to the Poughkeepsie police, admitting, according to statements made by them, that she had used her knowledge of the combination lock to possess herself of it. The money was for the weekly payroll at the Endner establishment.

In addition to the closed motor car which the runaway pair bought in Oneonta, N. Y., for $2,350 and had with them when arrested, the Poughkeepsie police found $12,000 in cash in the bride's handbag—two packages of $6,000 each, done up in paper and tucked away in separate grips. As soon as the news of their capture was flashed into police headquarters Detectives Croak and Carbery started to bring the trio back home. Endner making the trip with them.

PISTOL DUEL

Negro Killed; Scout Officers Are Expected to Die.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 18.—Albert Brown, negro, wearing the uniform of an American soldier, was killed and Police Scout Officers A. W. Phillips and W. D. Evans were mortally wounded here last night in a pistol battle, the details of which are still unknown. The shooting occurred at a lonely spot in the outskirts of the city and, so far as known, was witnessed by no one.

Persons hearing a fusillade of pistol shots went to the spot nad found the two police scouts lying near a railway track while a little way off the negro's body was found. Officer Evans was evidently shot before he was able to defend himself. Phillips fired several times at the negro, who was struck in the head by three bullets.

The policemen are still unconscious and are not expected to live through the night. Police are searching for another negro, said to have been Brown's companion.

GERMANY DISSATISFIED

The Local Anzeiger and Vorwaerts characterize the new armistice demands as "blackmail," "an effort to garrot German commercial life." They declare that "no reconciliation can be effected in this way." Germany surrendered in the belief that she would get "justice" through pressure of public opinion of the world, Chancellor Scheidemann declared in an interview at Weimar. "Germany laid down her arms, trusting to President Wilson's justice and the public opinion of the world," he said.

JERUSALEM THEIR GOAL

New York, Feb. 18.—"This year in Jerusalem," was the slogan of 400 delegates to the twenty-second annual convention of the Federated Zionist Societies in session here today. At three massmeetings last night, where speeches by Dr. Benzion Morrinson, of Joppa, Palestine, were delivered, the same spirit prevailed. Establishment of a Hebrew University at Jerusalem as centre of Jewish culture was the chief subject of discussion.

Norman Hapgood will be the principal speaker at the closing banquet tonight.

COFFEE IN DEMAND

Prohibition Likely to Create Shortage and Increase Price

San Juan, P. R., Feb. 18.—The coffee shortage has created more suffering to the people of the island than even the rice shortage of last fall. The cost of the home-grown coffee has gone up to 50 cents a pound, a far higher rate than people in the United States pay for their coffee.

The reasons are several. One is that the last crop was very short. Another has been the resumption of the export trade. Before the world war Spain bought the Porto Rican surplus almost in its entirety, but during the war there were shipments only to the United States Now the Spanish demand has been renewed.

Another cause is the enforcement of the prohibition laws, which went into effect in March, 1918, which have increased the drinking of coffee very materially.

The more drastic enforcement of this law, which is now being conducted by Federal and insular officials, is expected to increase the demand for coffee as the difficulty of obtaining other drinks increases.

CRISIS IN GREAT BRITAIN

United Kingdom Now Facing the Most Serious Labor Problem In History.

London, Feb. 18.—Great Britain is facing what every authority in the United Kingdom agrees is the most serious labor problem ever forced upon it, and to date no policy or program has been found promising a solution. It involves not merely localized suspension of the activities of shipyards, municipal utilities or even individual railroads, but the country is now threatened with complete paralysis through a strike of the men engaged in coal mining, railroad operation and general transport, commonly referred to as the "triple alliance." The execution of this threat upon the part of these fundamental agencies of business and comfort must result in a domestic disaster. Nor is Britain blinding itself to such possibilities. On the contrary, every enlightened newspaper in the land is sounding a warning, and from the day its sessions began the House of Commons has resounded with defiant declarations from the representatives of conflicting interests. There can be no question that the nation is more deeply concerned and profoundly disturbed over the ominous prospect in the immediate future than over the peace proceedings, league of nations or all other international issues combined.

BRITON DEEMS POOR RIVAL

Declares Americans Can't Do Anything in Line of Building Ships

London, Feb. 18.—"The Americans," writes Ralph Runciman, former president of the board of trade, in the Weekly Dispatch, "are building an immense number of vessels, but not of the same quality as the British liners and tramps. The Americans have little experience on which to build.

"Americau competition will be much more serious if there should grow up there a compact body of shipping men working together and sticking to their business instead of hopping about from one thing to another, thus gradually regaining the shipping knowledge which they lost in the '60's and '70's.

"I do not think the Americans will beat us at carrying world trade. For one thing, the amount of capital they put into a 1,000 ton ship is 40 per cent more than necessary. Then, the tremendous capital charges necessitate correspondingly heavy insurance, and the owners get small dividends. The Americans don't like the small dividends."

FRANCE AND BELGIUM MUST ARM TO CHECK FOE

London, Feb. 18.—"The principle of disarmament has died a natural death," writes "Commandmant D," military expert of the Exchange Telegraph Company from Paris.

"Inasmuch as the proposal for an international army has been scotched, France and Belgium are obliged to take necessary steps to protect themselves against possible, if not probable, attack."

"HINDY" NOW ISSUES PLEAS

Makes Appeals to Troops Who Once Jumped at Marshal's Orders.

Colmar, Germany. Feb. 18.—Though once more the most powerful and influential personality in Germany, Field Marshal von Hindenburg is reduced to a point where he has to plead with his troops and the German people, as is shown by an almost pathetic appeal he issued upon his arrival at his new headquarters here.

The spirit of independence has seized the ranks of the German soldiers still under arms, and there is a noticeable drop in discipline.

The offensive Hindenburg ordered against Poland came to a sudden standstill even before Foch's armistice terms, signed by the Germans, put a definite finish to it.

The soldiers council at Bromberg refused to recognize any decrees issued by the war minister and the fighting against the Poles was stopped for the sake of electing a new council. Meanwhile, the Poles captured Grunthal and wiped out an entire German company.

In his appeal, Hindenburg says:

"You, my bold comrades, and veterans of Tannenberg, and the Masurian Lakes, hurry to my aid. My appeal to Germany's sons must not remain unheeded.

"Regardless of tribe—whether Bavarians, Saxons Swabians or Prussians—(the first time a German general has mentioned Prussia last in such an enumeration) we are all Germans. Forget what divides us. Gather again in love of home and discipline and in confidence in your leaders."

COMMENDS K. OF C.

Wife of President Pays Visit to Paris Hospital.

New York, Feb. 18.—Commendation by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, of the work of the Knights of Columbus among sick and wounded American soldiers and France is quoted in a letter from Edward Reed, of Longmont, Col., who has charge of the organization's activities at Base Hospital No. 57 in Paris, received by the war work council here today.

After talking with patients and watching Knights of Columbus secretaries distributing comforts among the men, Mrs. Wilson said she was "glad to see the Knights of Columbus War Council is paying such close attention to the sick and wounded of the American Army and giving the same excellent service as was rendered to the fighting men in the front line trenches during open hostilities."
